

BOOKS FOR STUDENTS

GLENDALE LIBRARY WILL HELP TO GIVE INFORMATION ON SPECIAL SUBJECTS

One of the great uses of a library is to aid students to get information in connection with their special subjects. This is done in a great many of the modern libraries all over the country. By reason of the help thus afforded them men who have little leisure to attend classes in order to study their special subjects have been able to advance their knowledge in their own line and even to pass searching examinations in technical subjects.

"It is not always possible for a librarian," said Mrs. Danford, librarian of the Glendale public library, "to know what books are wanted by those who are studying special subjects; but we always endeavor to assist those who are anxious to make special use of the library."

"I would like many of those who are working along different lines of special work to advise me what they are doing. If we do not have special text books on the subjects in which our readers are interested we would be glad to get them. Such books would always be valuable additions to the library and would be useful to many more than the one at whose suggestion it was acquired."

"Naturally we do not desire to get any text books on special subjects when we have already in the library books dealing with the same subject that are sufficiently up to date and can be made use of for the purpose of study. We expect students to make what they can of the material at hand and if a gap in our books can be filled to advantage we will fill it."

"In any case I would be glad if those who are anxious to make use of the library in this way would consult with me regarding it. It would be found greatly to the benefit of the student-worker if he would make his wants known. There are always avenues of knowledge that can be pointed out that might be valuable even along with the most modern text book."

"Again I would like to ask mothers and others who bear the burden of domestic work to consult with me as to the kind of reading they prefer. Those who are worn out with the exacting cares of a household are not in the frame of mind that craves technical or heavy reading. They need something light for their amusement and at the same time something that will not enervate the brain or deaden the perceptive and reasoning faculties. I should be glad to have such parties talk the matter over with me and would do my very best to assist them."

"It must always be remembered that the purchasing of books by the library is a matter of expense, and that it must depend to a certain extent on the funds we have in hand. That is one of the limits we are forced to put on ourselves. We cannot purchase all the books we may desire to purchase, no matter how good or how necessary they may be. We are compelled to discriminate and exercise care in our purchases. It is usually a question of how to make a certain sum go a certain length and cover as much as possible all the different avenues of reading demand. At the same time there is always the possibility of special selection when the purchase will be a permanent and valuable addition."

COLORADO BLVD. P. T. A.

Business of considerable importance was discussed at the first meeting of this season of the Colorado Boulevard Parent-Teacher Association, held Wednesday afternoon at 3:15. The meeting was presided over by Mrs. LeRoy Bosserman. Plans were made for the work of the season. Mrs. Hutchinson, president of the Parent-Teacher Federation, spoke on "How to Make the Parent-Teacher Association a Success." She advocated enthusiasm and hard work as essential features of any association. Mrs. Hutchinson spoke with much wisdom out of a ripe experience of eighteen years. She urged all mothers who have not attended these meetings to make an effort to get there.

It was intimated that Dr. Raymond would give a series of three lectures on October 16, 23 and 30. Mrs. Hutchinson announced that a free course in Domestic Science would be given Wednesday afternoons at the High School, through the courtesy of Professor Moyses and Miss Larson. Miss Eaton read a paper on Child Welfare Work. This instructive paper has been sent to all the local P. T. A.'s. Mrs. Whiting, accompanied by Mrs. Abell, gave a vocal solo. Mrs. Abell gave a piano solo. Refreshments and social chat followed.

SUNDAY IN OMAHA

W. B. KIRK WRITES INTERESTINGLY OF WORK OF FAMOUS EVANGELIST

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 3, 1915.
Dear News: Before leaving Omaha I had the opportunity of hearing Billy Sunday again, and as his meetings are the most talked-of subject in the Nebraska press just now—especially of the people of Omaha—I believe a few lines thereon may be of interest.

As usual he had a full house of about 8000 people, and spoke with all of his physical abandon and energy. Large delegations of P. O. employees, newspaper employees and wholesale houses, responded when called on to rise from their seats, and a beautiful bouquet was presented to "Ma" Sunday as a token of affection, in a neat speech by a representative of the Railway Postal employees. "Ma" responded in a manner which showed that she is the equal of her distinguished husband, when it comes to impromptu speeches.

I think that more criticism of Sunday and his methods has arisen in Omaha than in almost any city he has visited. The "Public Pulse" columns of the papers daily teem with sarcastic, not to say abusive letters of this character, but they seem to have no effect on the attendance or success of the meetings. However, "Billy" seems to feel that Omaha is one of the hardest cities he has tackled. One of his comments which indicates this was in this sentence: "I found Omaha united. You were frozen together. You are thawing out but you are about the slowest at thawing out that I have found."

A very interesting article headed "Sunday And His Critics," occurs in the Lincoln Journal of today. The writer has evidently been trying to get at the facts, and seems to be fair and unbiased in his conclusions. In brief these are, that although Sunday has collected $346,000 in the 21 cities where he has labored for the last ten years, he has made 233,000 converts (figures not furnished by Sunday) and that every cent has been a willing contribution. He is altogether too prodigal with his vitality and nervous energy, preaching 13 sermons a week, in which he puts so much force that the doctors tell him he is shortening his life by years. He seems to care little for money itself as he steadfastly refuses to sell his services for any price. He has had an offer of $20,000 for a short season of Chautauqua work, and others of $1000 a day for 30 days. He lives simply in a modest $4000 home, eats sparingly and because of the strain upon his nerves, must often diet.

Very few people who hear him without premeditated prejudice can fail to believe in his absolute sincerity, and that he has been called to do a great work for his fellowman.

He delivered one of his "society" sermons last Thursday morning at the palatial home of Mrs. E. E. Hart in Council Bluffs. In his prayer he said: "Lord, you know I haven't been in Council Bluffs since about 40 years ago when I passed through here a cold, hungry and forlorn little boy, on my way to the Orphans Home at Glenwood. I didn't think then, Lord, that I would ever be back here in the finest house in the town, preaching to the wealthiest people of the place. Well, Lord, some of these people here beneath their fine clothes are just as miserable as I was that day. Help them, Lord, just as you've helped me."

Nearly every person who has lived in Nebraska in the last 20 years has read some of the humor and poetry of A. L. Bixby, the poet-laureate of the State Journal. So I believe they will like to read a little bit of his latest bearing on the life and work of the man we have been discussing as follows:

Give the devil his due, and the other fellow, too. In his Ak-Sar-Ben edition of the Nebraska Democrat John Tanner boasts a good bit for booze and more for Billy Sunday. Brought up in the same Iowa town, he has known the great evangelist since he was a small boy with no equipment for life's battle but plenty of native ability and a willingness to work. His father was dead, his mother very poor; his chance in life apparently very slim. With no educational advantages, but with ambition and vim and determination, the lad proceeded to get busy and to keep everlastingly at it. Whatever his hands found to do he did with all his might. He "got religion" and it soaked in. It made him happy. It enthused him. He wanted all the world to share in its privileges and benefits, so he abandoned professional baseball for the work he is now engaged in. John says his primary object is to make the world better and consequently happier; that commercial considerations are secondary. Incidental to his

MAY GET FACTORY

WOOD MANUFACTURING COMPANY WANTS FIVE ACRES IN GLENDALE

If Glendale has anywhere a 5-acre site which it is ready to give away the city may have a large factory with a considerable weekly payroll in its midst before long. That is the situation which the Chamber of Commerce is considering at the present moment.

There is no doubt that there is plenty of vacant ground around the city which would be suitable for such an enterprise as the one spoken of. The question is, can it be obtained free. The Wood Manufacturing Company of Los Angeles seems to think it should not be difficult for the city to find the ground in consideration of the benefits that would accrue to Glendale from the presence of a large business in its midst.

The Wood Manufacturing Company of Los Angeles is occupied with the manufacture of the finely finished cabinets that are used for holding phonograph disks. The business is active. The firm employs 65 men, and has a weekly payroll of from $1,300 to $1,500. There is no doubt it would be a profitable addition to this city's business community.

What remains to be seen is whether it is possible to induce public spirited citizens to assist this project. The Chamber of Commerce is working on the affair and is loath to turn it down. All business men and all citizens interested in this matter are invited to attend the Chamber of Commerce meeting, Friday evening, when this matter will be fully discussed.

ELKS LEAVE FOR REUNION

In connection with the Annual State Reunion of the B. P. O. E. association, which will be held in San Francisco during the coming week, a large party of members of the local lodge of Elks will leave Los Angeles this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock en route to the northern city. Two special trains will carry the delegates from the Southern California lodges, with the exception of those belonging to the Pasadena lodge, who left by special train last night.

Those who are going from Glendale are: G. O. Wilbur, Russell Berry, S. C. Parker, Mrs. Parker and daughter, R. D. Clements, C. O. Pulliam and Mrs. Pulliam, A. R. Dimick, Peter L. Ferry and Mrs. Ferry, John Roman, H. G. Martin, S. L. Gillan, F. J. Showalter, A. D. Pearce and Mrs. Pearce, R. A. Brothick, John Fanset and Mrs. Asa Fanset, the Rev. C. Irving Mills and E. O. Clemens.

Los Angeles lodge No. 99 will take with it its band of 42 pieces and also its patrol drill squad of 36 men. Both band and drill squad will enter all the competitions.

The two trains will leave Los Angeles five minutes apart. At 11 o'clock Thursday evening the Elks' mystic hour, when the trains are passing through the sands of the desert, they will be stopped and both trains will draw together; the brethren will then get out, give their time-honored toast and play "Auld Lang Syne." After that they will proceed on their journey.

DORAN ST. P. T. A.

The Doran St. Parent-Teacher association held its first meeting of the year on Wednesday of this week. After the regular business meeting Mrs. Cora M. Taylor addressed an appreciative audience on "The Boy From a Mother's and a Teacher's Standpoint." Songs by Mrs. Calvin Whiting and a piano selection by Mrs. Abell added greatly to the success of the meeting. Mr. Richardson D. White was present and said a few words of welcome and encouragement to the association. After adjournment refreshments and a social time were enjoyed in the pleasant court of the school.

MAJESTIC THEATER CLOSED

After an existence of two years, which has always been more or less of a struggle, the Majestic theater closed its doors Monday night. The proprietor, Mr. F. H. Lowe, and the manager, Mr. Harry Lowe, have made a heroic fight against adverse conditions, but have been forced to give in after considerable pecuniary loss. Nothing is to blame for this unfortunate finish of what once promised to be a fair business proposition except the dull times, during which the people of Glendale have been unable to support two picture shows. The theater outfit will be stored and sold, and the Central Building Company will probably convert the theater into stores.

COMING ELECTIONS

Information regarding the coming elections is frequently asked of the Glendale Evening News. The following may be useful: An election will be held Oct. 16 for the purpose of voting on the question of the annexation of a strip adjoining the city, including Ruth street, a portion of Dryden street, Gilbert street and Remington street. This strip contains 100 voters. They alone will vote on the question of annexation at this time.

Another annexation election will be held on the question of joining the City of Glendale by the residents in a strip of land which includes the Glendale laundry, the Pacific right-of-way and down to and including the Brand pumping plant strip recently purchased by the City of Glendale. This election will be held Nov. 10. This election was originally called for Oct. 26, but as that is the date of the general State election the election was postponed.

On Oct. 26 the State election will be held to deal with the amendments, etc. In case both the above-mentioned strips should vote to enter the City of Glendale another election will be necessary in order that the people of Glendale may decide whether or not they want to annex the strips. This may be decided by a special election or left over until the general election in April.

NEW RESIDENTS

Among the many substantial people who have recently come to Glendale to reside are Mr. A. Jud Shepard, wife and family, who removed to this place from Compton a few weeks ago. Mr. Shepard is in the mercantile business in Los Angeles, and selected Glendale as a place of residence on account of the beauty of its location, its accessibility to his work and for its other well known advantages. He intended to rent a home here, but on looking over the situation decided to buy and is now the possessor of a nice home at 1535 Pioneer Drive, which is undergoing some improvements, including the building of a garage.

INTERMEDIATE P. T. A.

The Parent-Teacher Association of the Intermediate School will meet Friday afternoon at 3:15 o'clock. An excellent program has been provided.

"A HOUSE DIVIDED AGAINST ITSELF"

It might be expected that Chicago, that immense and wealthy city, progressive and ambitious, the rival of New York, would have a specially good school system and that with the money at its command it would lead the country in the efficiency of its school equipment and the superiority of its finished product—the youth that emerges from its schools yearly. There is no doubt as to the fact that Chicago has money for its schools. The amount spent reaches above $15,000,000 annually. That is an immense sum and should have given Chicago a system of education second to none in the land.

When we inquire into conditions in the capital of the Middle West, however, there can be no hesitation in saying that the people of Chicago are not getting the full value of their money in education. This year it is said that the salaries of the teachers are being cut to a considerable extent and that the schools that should have been open all summer were closed; while the new school year finds a noticeable lack of development in equipment.

In view of the enormous sum expended on education there must be something wrong. There is manifestly some lack of efficiency in local government before such conditions could prevail. The appropriations must surely be improvident and it is time system were applied. In addition to all this, or perhaps as an explanation of it all it is learned that there is a serious dispute in existence at present between the teachers of Chicago and the Board of Education as to the right of the teachers to organize. This dispute has injured the schools to a very considerable extent.

This dispute also has reacted on the whole system of education and school management and has upset teachers and scholars alike. In like manner it has left its mark on the expenditures which have been admittedly wasteful while the revenue system itself has been stupid and ineffective. All this is the result of a house divided against itself. Teachers and board must work in harmony or the very direst results are certain to come to the whole system of education in any city. It is not, therefore, astonishing to learn that students are going elsewhere to study, seeking advanced schools where the din of a struggle between teachers and the school board does not interrupt the course of education.

BULGARIA'S DEBT TO NATIONS

It used to be said that republics had no gratitude. It begins to look as though the saying might be applied to Bulgaria, which is no republic, but a principality. Forty years ago Gladstone, the great British statesman, aroused the world to a sense of the atrocities the Turks were perpetrating on the Bulgarians. He spoke with that fiery energy and determination which made him so powerful an orator and declared that Turkey must be sent out of Europe "bag and baggage."

Gladstone's policy was adopted in part and the Turks were bidden cease their cruelties. Russia also came to the rescue of Bulgaria and to this day in every Bulgarian cottage you will see a picture of Gladstone or of the emperor of Russia. In the face of this past Czar Ferdinand is trying to set Bulgaria on the side of Turkey in the great struggle now going on in Europe. There are some who think that he will find it impossible to get the people to follow him in this policy. Those who think thus are likely to find themselves mistaken.

Under the Bulgarian military system the male element of the population is as much under military control as were the Socialists of Germany of whom so much was expected in connection with preventing war. It will be impossible for them to move hand or foot in the direction of disobeying orders. The strong hand of military rule will be over them and the discipline they have been taught will hang upon them "with a weight heavy as lead, deep almost as night."

It is pitiable that a nation could allow itself to be drilled and dragooned into such immoral acquiescence with a shameful policy. The lesson of what Christians might expect at the hands of Turks has been written deep in the souls of the Christians of Bulgaria, Macedonia and Armenia. Just at present the Armenians are experiencing the tender mercies of the Moslem. They are being driven out of their land to which they have clung for ages; scattered over remote parts of Asia; tortured and murdered; their women shamefully treated. The allies are fighting hard to get at Turkey; America has protested against the cruelties of the Turk, but they still go on. With Germany to back her Turkey thinks she can defy the world.

Meanwhile Bulgaria, whom Britain and Russia saved from such a fate as is now overtaking the defenseless Armenia, is apparently going to assist Turkey and Germany. It is a case of desperate ingratitude and is likely to lead in the end to the relegation of Bulgaria to a back seat among the nations.

Japan is eclectic in everything she does. She sent students to all the European countries to study war methods and selected the best features of each system, combining them into a successful whole. Now she is advocating eclecticism in religion. The future religion of Japan is likely to contain a mixture of all religions. The Japanese admire the social side of Christianity; its neighborly and philanthropic characteristics. They do not care for its theology. Recently a professor of the Imperial university of Tokyo said: "There is no religion in Japan among educated men." That is going too far; so too, perhaps, is the missionary's statement that the future religion will be Christianity with modifications. Some prefer pantheism; some Buddhism. Perhaps the most likely approximation to what Japan's new religion will be is found in the statement of a foreign lawyer, who said: "Japan's new religion will be an amalgam of ancestor worship, Buddhism, Shintoism as applied to imperial loyalty and Christian social service." Japan will likely be true to her eclecticism and will have some such reconciliation of different religions as the last mentioned.

There is one king who seems likely to retain his job even after the war is over. That is King Victor-Emmanuel of Italy. The diminutive monarch is at the front and under fire every day. He is cool and collected even when an Austrian shell bursts as it occasionally does on the spot he has just left. He is the idol of the soldiers because he risks his own life and it must always be remembered that he was averse to Italy's entering the war from the beginning.

President Wilson has expressed himself very forcibly and sensibly to the effect that the United States must be prepared not for war but for defense. He has summoned to the aid of the country the best inventive brains in the land. With men like Thomas Edison engaged in this work of devising means to protect the United States from the possible aggression of foreign lands it may be counted as certain that this country will soon have a navy as perfect as human ingenuity can make it.

Those who are inclined to believe that the world is altogether corrupt may pluck up heart when they read what occurred in Russia the other day. A great number of members of the Imperial council signed a remarkable document which was presented to the Russian government. This document advocated the application to the Jews of Russia of the same principles of government which are applied to the members of the orthodox church. This astonishing document was signed by members of the Russian parliament, by princes, professors and authors. Those who signed the petition are the leaders of the nation. Some time ago such a document would never have been signed. The men who signed it the other day would have feared such an act. The Jews who are fighting side by side with the Christians in the cause of "Holy Russia" are certainly entitled to equality in the eyes of the law, and that is what the enlightened Russians have come to feel and they have given free expression to their opinion. It remains to be seen what the Holy Synod and the czar will do.

"THE HOOSIER POET" GETS UNIVERSAL RECOGNITION ON HIS 62ND BIRTHDAY

When James Whitcomb Riley climbed out of bed on the second floor of his roomy, old-fashioned brick house, deep in the shadows of dreamy old Lockerbie street today he found all Hoosierdom bowing and scraping at him in smiling recognition of his 62nd years' beginning.

Lockerbie street is a little rustic village highway, with rambling old trees and battered brick walls lining its dusty ribbon of road. Riley never wanted it improved. He had to write a poem of just how he felt about it to keep the councilmen from fixing it all up. His other protests went unheeded, but the poem saved the day; and this instant, though the modern city sweeps in macadam lines and skyscrapered visage out in all directions from it, Lockerbie street is still, and doubtless will remain—just Lockerbie street.

Not far over the hills from the city lies the little Town o' Tail Holts; and a few miles further on is 'Th' Old Swimmin' Hole. On country roads down through the state you might, if you searched right well, find cross-roads signs, merchants legends daubed on rough boards, relics of those long gone days when Jimmy Riley rambled over the hills and far away.

Today the world bows low to James Whitcomb Riley, "The Hoosier Poet," and a genial smile such as no one in the world but Riley ever could concoct, wreaths his great, big, boyish old face and—well, it just all seems mighty good.

Children in every township of ninety-two counties recited Riley poems and heard stories of the man whose fame has overtaken him while he yet lives.

Indianapolis was the gathering place of Riley's admirers. Notable men of letters came far from all directions to honor Nature's poet.

A busy day was outlined for Riley. Some doubt was expressed that he could follow the program without severely taxing his strength, which has broken in recent years. This morning Riley visited schools here, where the children had been drilled in many pretty honors to him. Riley made no secret of the fact that he treasured the tribute paid him by the children.

Favorite Riley poems were for the first time interpreted in dancing and music. At the Murat theater "An Afternoon with Riley" was produced quite ambitiously. "Little Orphan Annie," "The Circus Day Parade" and other favorites were interpreted by young women of the social set.

The banquet at the Clympool this evening in Riley's honor will be representative. Four hundred invitations were sent out.

The list of speakers for tonight includes William Allen White of Emporia, Kans., who will tell of "The Day We Celebrate"; John H. Finney, commissioner of education of the state of New York; George Ade, Young E. Allison of Louisville, Albert J. Beveridge, Senator John W. Kern, Vice President Thomas R. Marshall, Ellery Sedgwick, editor of Atlantic Monthly, and Col. George Harvey. Charles Warren Fairbanks will be toast master.

Riley had been hoping for lots of sunlight and high temperature today. This, he said, has been a most outrageous summer. "I haven't been able to get up a perspiration but twice." Riley dislikes cold weather. He spends his winters in Florida. He is not writing now either, for the hand that served him so well so long is "mullish."

"And poems can't be dictated, you know."

However, he did write a new poem for today, and will read it tonight.

THIS YEAR'S WHEAT CROP

Much of this year's wheat crop has so high a moisture content that special treatment before storing it is necessary to insure its keeping in good condition. Tests conducted by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, however, have demonstrated that it is not always necessary to put such wheat through a commercial drier, and that by mixing high moisture and low moisture wheat together the damp wheat can be put into good condition for storage. In these tests a carload of white wheat from the Pacific Coast, containing 9.7 per cent moisture, was mixed with a carload of eastern red winter wheat testing 15.1 per cent in moisture. This difference of 5.4 per cent in the moisture content was reduced ten days after the mixing to only 0.5 per cent. In the course of the transfer of the moisture from the red to the white wheat no appreciable change in temperature was detected.

The information obtained from these tests will greatly facilitate, it is said, the handling of wet wheat this year. Millers can do away with part of the extra work of drying wet wheat by simply mixing it with the dry wheat they may have on hand, and if no dry wheat is available, they may dry out one carload and then mix it with another carload of high moisture content, instead of being compelled to dry out both carloads. If mills or elevators are equipped to mix and dry at the same time, this method will greatly increase their capacity for taking care of large quantities of damp wheat.

CONTEST GROWS EXCITING

Tuesday Afternoon Club of Glendale and Glendale Fire Department are two organizations contesting for the piano to be given away by the Southern California Music Co. at their store in Glendale, 316 Brand boulevard.

A good deal of interest is now shown and each organization wishes their members and friends to call at 316 Brand boulevard and cast a vote; the time is short and the contest will soon close. No purchase is necessary in order to vote—the votes are absolutely free. This is certainly a unique way for this time honored house to advertise their business in Glendale and vicinity.

SPECIAL SERVICES

Rev. Hugh K. Walker, D.D., formerly of Immanuel Presbyterian church, Los Angeles, now pastor of First Church, Long Beach, will speak this evening at the Presbyterian church, in connection with pre-communion services, which are being held every evening this week. Tomorrow evening, at the same hour, 7:30, the Rev. John Balcom Shaw, D.D., pastor of Immanuel Presbyterian church, will deliver the regular Preparatory sermon.

The public in general is very cordially invited to hear these two noted speakers.

Communion service and reception of new members will occur next Sabbath morning at 1 o'clock.

PENNY SOCIAL FRIDAY

All preparations for the Penny social of the First Congregational church have been completed. The affair promises far to exceed those of previous years. The two cleaners' classes have decorated the church in excellent style. Special attractions have been provided in the picture show that will be managed by Mr. A. R. Chappell, organist of St. Mark's Episcopal church, who is kindly assisting; the cafeteria, the story-telling and the fortune-telling. Miss Vantyne Smith, who has charge of the branch libraries in connection with the Los Angeles library, has secured Miss Jessie Chase, formerly story-teller at the Los Angeles library for Friday evening. Miss Sharpe of the public library of Los Angeles will also be present and will tell fortunes. A great success is anticipated for the social.

ATTENTION, BARACAS!

There will be an important business meeting of the Baracas of the First Methodist Church Friday night at the home of Mr. Tower, 133 South Kenwood. Election of officers. Everybody come, bring some boy who is not a Baraca of any church.

TO THE LADIES OF THE TUESDAY AFTERNOON CLUB

Please call at 316 Brand boulevard and register your name and address that the club may have a chance to win the piano given by the Southern California Music Company. The contest closes Friday, Oct. 15.

PERSONALS

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Miner and their daughter Millicent have returned from a pleasant visit to their relatives at Olive, near Orange.

Miss Stanton, bookkeeper in Smith's grocery, 771 S. Brand boulevard, has gone for a two weeks' vacation to the north.

Mrs. E. H. Willisford has mailed 238 year books of the Tuesday Afternoon club to the members of that association. They should be received in the mail today. This is the first announcement of the number of members in the club to date this season. Other applications are being received.

Mrs. Charles D. Bartow, of First street, entertained the ladies of West Glendale M. E. church, Wednesday afternoon, with a tea for the benefit of the David and Margaret Home at Lordsburg. There was a good program, fine music and thirty-five guests present. Hot cocoa and fancy cake were served. Mrs. Walter Tickarts and Mrs. E. J. Henderson assisted the hostess. Everybody had a good time.

Mrs. John Lyons, of Vine street, was hostess Wednesday to a pleasant party of guests, at luncheon, in honor of Miss Jean Hunter of Redlands, who recently returned from visiting San Francisco and San Diego exhibitions, to visit her Glendale friends and the beauties of this city. Luncheon was served at 1 p. m. Covers were laid for six. The table was beautifully arranged. The colors—yellow and green—were carried out everywhere. The centerpiece was a basket of yellow chrysanthemums and ferns tied with a huge bow of yellow ribbon. The color scheme was carried out in the tiny laws on the crocheted almond baskets. Those invited to meet Miss Hunter were Mrs. C. Alton Bridges of Los Angeles, Miss Alice Patterson and Miss Eva Daniels, in addition to the charming hostess, Mrs. Lyons. After luncheon games and music were enjoyed.

MCGROARTY TO SPEAK

It is expected that there will be a large attendance at the Chamber of Commerce Friday night at 8 o'clock, when John S. McGroarty will speak. Mr. McGroarty is well known as the author of the famous Mission play, which has so long proved an attraction to visitors to Southern California, and has already proved its abundant merits by the long run it has had. Mr. McGroarty will probably speak on the play and Southern California. He is an eloquent and pleasing speaker.

MOVE FOR CHAUTAUQUA

There is a movement on foot to hold a Chautauqua in Glendale. A proposal to that end is now before the Chamber of Commerce. It is believed that the presence of such an institution for a short time during the early summer would be of considerable benefit to the city. Glendale is gradually getting a reputation as an educational city. Its facilities for educational purposes are greatly enhanced by its fine climate. This would be a considerable factor in attracting a large crowd to the city and in advertising its merits. It is proposed to hold the Chautauqua during the first week in May. The matter is still in embryo. Friday night the Tuesday Afternoon Club, the Parent-Teacher Federation and the Chamber of Commerce committees will meet to consider the plan and definite announcement will be made later.

GARDEN SOCIETY ESTABLISHES HEADQUARTERS

A very successful meeting of the Garden Society of Glendale was held yesterday evening at the residence of J. H. Woods, 1222 Milford street. The resignation of Professor Moyle, whose time is extremely taken up by the growth of the High School and its interests, was accepted with regrets. By a unanimous vote Mrs. Nanno Woods, the founder of the society, was then elected president. Miss Alice Lockwood was unanimously elected to the office of secretary in the place of Mrs. Woods. Miss Lockwood is a young lady of much ability, a student of horticulture in the Glendale High School; she is taking at present an extended course of propagation and greenhouse work. The society is fortunate to have enlisted her active co-operation, and hopes to benefit greatly by her experience. Mr. Morris Caruthers is another very active member, an expert in all matters horticultural.

The constitution was read, discussed and unanimously adopted. The first Thursday evening of each month was selected as the official regular meeting of the society. Headquarters have been secured at 1111 West Broadway, the heart of the business section of Glendale, where information will be given and questions cheerfully answered from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. daily. The regular meetings of the society will be held at 7:30 o'clock at headquarters on the first Thursday of each month. Members and friends will please note this fact; as after the November meeting reminders of regular meetings will be given only through the medium of the daily local and Los Angeles papers.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

The enrollment of students in the High School this term greatly exceeds that of any previous year. The total enrollment is five hundred and nineteen. Over one hundred and sixty students entered from the Grammar Schools. Besides the six classes there are a great many specials and post-graduates. Eight of the graduates of 1915 are back at school this year. They are Owen Dibbern, Chase Story, Willard Brown, Elliot Colby, Monty Coole, Margaret Harrison, Esther Sinclair and Florence Wheeler. Others taking a post-graduate course are D. Lee, C. Frenz, M. Lane, G. Anderson, H. Wallace, E. Richardson and E. Beckman.

Interclass Debate

The interclass debates, which proved such a success last year, are to take place earlier this term. The first interscholastic debate of the year will be upon "American Shipping." The statement of the question will not be sent down from Berkeley until shortly before the debate. The subject of the interclass debate is, "Resolved, That the United States Should Have a Government Owned Merchant Marine." The subject is one of intense interest and everyone seems well satisfied with it. Last year the class of 1916 won the debate and got their numerals placed upon the banner. They say that they intend to put another 1916 right below it. Well, those young sophomores are pretty bright debaters. All the classes are already working and we expect a hard fight.

Tennis

Two fine cement tennis courts have just been finished in the rear of the main building. It is unnecessary to say that they are appreciated. We lost two splendid tennis men last year, but we still have "Bill" Balthis, Carlton West and Ed. Heacock.

Interclass tryouts have been taking place for the past week and we hope some new stars will show up. Mr. Ferguson, Mr. Morris, Mr. Joy and Mr. Wight played some very good tennis Wednesday afternoon. It is rumored that Mr. Taylor is very fond of the game and is also quite a player. Perhaps he will come out now that we have plenty of courts.

Class Meetings

All of the classes have held their first class meeting to elect officers and athletic captains and managers. The Seniors met early in the term and elected William Renshaw for president; Mary Jane Evans, vice president; Rachel McClure, secretary and Tom Phillips, treasurer. The officers are all good workers and we expect great things from the mighty Seniors.

The Junior's officers are: President, Jeanette McLennan. Vice President, Olive Wilson. Secretary, Dan Hagin. Treasurer, Mildred Wight. The officers elected by the A10 Sophomores are: President, Milton Brown. Vice President, Herbert Schueuer. Secretary, Roberto Rosa. Treasurer, Annabel McLellan. The Scrub officers are as yet unknown, but Chauncey Kolts was seen calling them to order. We guess he'd have to call pretty hard to get the Scrubs in order.

Those Sophomore Sweaters It is a peculiar fact, but a very true one, that Sophomores in High School always and unfailingly get jerseys of the most dazzling colors, preferably striped. This year's Sophomores proved no exception to the rule, but soon after school started appeared in jerseys of the brightest green imaginable, with two stripes around the middle, and to finish the color scheme they had little green lids set upon their massive brows.

Dance Postponed

It has been rumored that the Senior dance, which was to have been given next Saturday night, will be postponed on account of a lecture which will take place at the Masonic hall on that evening. The hall is already engaged for every Friday and Saturday of October, so the date of the dance is unknown.

PACIFIC ELECTRIC PEOPLE

Editor Daily News: In a recent issue of the News you presented an editorial paragraph highly (but none too high) complimenting the personnel of the employees of that corporation, with local application to conductors and others, fitting the latitude and longitude of Glendale. That these deserve all you said and more too, will not be disputed by any, but with your permission I will add a few lines extending the "compliment to the whole system, believing they all deserve it. For the four years I have been living on the coast I have been "riding on the red" to a considerable extent, and for uniform courtesy, politeness, suavity, helpfulness and kindness to women and children, I have never seen anything to complain of in any employee of the system. And what an army they constitute! And somewhere along the management must abide a master mind to drill this mass of raw material into uniformity of manners, cleanliness, dress and habits of restraint. These men are not all saints, nor are they always hauling that class, and possibly you may have seen in an occasional unreasonable passenger a great temptation for a conductor to let his temper rise, and yet he remained perfectly calm and non-resistant, held down by the company's rules.

This vast army of well disciplined men is a mighty moral force in society possibly beyond their own conception. They are forceful for temperance, as they cannot drink and hold their jobs. Profanity and coarseness are eliminated from their language. Neatness of dress and cleanliness of person are among the rigid rules.

Amendments may be yet made among the employees—in some cases—and a large margin for amendment in the treatment of employees by the riding public may be discovered, often by looking in the glass. It is too common to complain often about trifles, and oftener about affairs for which the company and not the employee should be roasted, and possibly no one needed roasting. S. P.

wonderful ability to wake people to a sense of their sinful and miserable condition, the voluntary offerings are benevolently large. The laborer is worthy of his hire. John Tanner is somewhat a man of the world, and his estimate of Mr. Sunday is therefore entitled to more consideration than that of one more religiously inclined. If we might discover the tracks of John Tanner going north on the sawdust trail it would be an occasion for more than a passing notice.

While yet the lamp holds out to burn I hope that Tanner will return. For he has wandered far afield And should be rounded up and healed.

Let the good work go forward, then, Till all the sinful sons of men Now lost and wandering in the cold Are brought back to the Father's fold;

In safety housed, as snug as ticks, To live secure forever. BIX.

Yours,

NEW GAME LAWS

More than 240 new game laws were enacted during 1915—a larger number than in any previous year except 1911, according to Farmers' Bulletin 692, "Game Laws for 1915." Forty-three states held regular legislative sessions, and in all of these states except Arizona, Georgia and Nebraska some changes were made in the statutes protecting game. The largest number of new game laws passed in any one state was 61, in North Carolina; but in California, Connecticut, Maine, New Jersey, Oregon, Pennsylvania, and Wisconsin the number reached 10 or more. Several measures were vetoed, including a general game bill in Idaho, the first bill appropriating the hunting license fund in Pennsylvania, a bill protecting bears in California, and three sections of the game bill in Washington. A number of bills were introduced for the purpose of harmonizing the state laws or migratory birds with the Federal regulations. In at least nine states changes were made which brought the seasons into substantial agreement, viz., California, Connecticut, Maine, Michigan, New Hampshire, Tennessee and West Virginia. Uniformity was also secured by provisions in the laws of Connecticut, Maine, New Mexico, North Dakota, Washington and Wisconsin, prohibiting hunting between sunset and sunrise.

VOTE FOR FIRE BOYS

The Volunteer Fire Department of Glendale has entered the contest for the piano offered by the Southern California Music Company. The boys are anxious to have an instrument in the firehouse to help them pass away the hours of waiting. They desire all their friends to call at 316 Brand Boulevard and register their votes in their favor.

CIDER VINEGAR

When apples are in their prime wash them and cut up, throwing out all undesirable pieces. Put in a kettle with water to cook; when done put the pulp in a sack and hang up to drain as for jelly. When the liquid has settled drain off the clear juice, leaving any sediment behind, and put into jugs to sour, adding a cupful of brown sugar and shaking the jug occasionally. Repeat the process until the jug is full, adding some sugar each time; then tie a thin cloth tightly over the top and set in a warm place. A piece of "mother" from other vinegar will hasten the process. Vinegar made after this recipe is very strong. Apple parings may be used.

The Trustees of the city of Burbank met at their regular weekly session at the City Hall Tuesday afternoon of this week. Trustees Blanchard, Hogle, Kline, Forbes and Craig all answering present to the roll call.

A communication was received from the Board of Forestry relative to the rose trellis outside the city limits, yet adjacent to the city of Burbank. After some discussion the local Trustees decided to replace the rose bushes which had died, and ordered the City Clerk to write the Board of Forestry to that effect.

In accordance with a law for the accommodation of the County Tax Assessor's and Collector's office, a tax rate for the city of Burbank was fixed at $1.10 on a $100.

At the request of certain citizens the board fixed a fair and equitable selling price on certain lots located on North Orange Grove avenue, owned by the Water Department.

L. B. Taylor, manager of the Stough Farms, spoke before the board in regard to the proposed park to be given to the city of Burbank by Mr. O. J. Stough. The proposed site would include approximately 150 acres and would be given to the city of Burbank absolutely free, with the exception that the city pay for having same properly surveyed, as Mr. Taylor made the complaint that the Trustees had made no attempt to meet Mr. Stough, the board voted to set a time for meeting the owner and to inspect the proposed site.

As no citizen appeared to enter protest against the recent ordinance the board instructed the superintendent of streets to begin clearing up and burn all refuse on all vacant lots not already cleared up by the owners prior to October 15, the costs of said work to be assessed against the owners of the property.

Adjournment.

Mrs. B. A. Kendall of Angeleno street, entertained a number of her friends at a dinner party Thursday noon in honor of her sister-in-law who soon leaves for her home in Chicago.

Passed Counterfeit Money

A stranger was in Burbank on Wednesday afternoon of this week, who passed counterfeit nickels at the place of business of a number of the local merchants. As soon as it was discovered that bad coin had been passed, Marshal Greenwood was notified, but as no one could give a good description of the counterfeiter the man got away.

Stough Ranch Reported Sold

The greatest deal ever pulled off in Burbank property was the sale of the great 6,000-acre Stough ranch, Tuesday.

The buyer of the ranch is a San Diego attorney, Arthur J. Casebeer. For the holding it is understood that Oliver J. Stough, the seller, received approximately $1,000,000, no part of the consideration being represented by trade. This last fact of itself causes the transaction to rank among the notable transfers of the past few years, as few big deals of any kind have been put through since the beginning of the dull times, in 1913, on anything but an exchange basis. The larger part of the consideration is stated by Mr. Casebeer to be in the form of long-term notes.

The new owner announces that he will form a company of Los Angeles men to transform the body of intact farming land and picturesque foothill slopes and vistas into a number of subdivisions, each destined for the market and each having a character of its own. A large part of the level ground adjoining Burbank will at once be laid out as city property, large lots, suitably restricted, being offered to the public. Farther out the land will be divided into regulation "little farm" sizes for commuter gardeners. Tracts of larger size will be made available for those who want them and eventually Mr. Casebeer expects to plot a great deal of the higher and more rugged land into foothill estates. If this immense estate is properly subdivided it will mean a great future for Burbank.

Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Lunkefer and son of Carpinteria, Cal., arrived in Burbank Sunday to visit Mrs. Lunkefer's brother, R. L. Linn of Angeleno street.

Mrs. G. H. Deacon, who had been called to Nappa, Cal., on account of the death of her nephew and who had remained a while to visit her sister, returned to Burbank Sunday.

LAFF YOUNG ON LOYALTY

Col. Lafayette Young, former United States senator from Iowa, who is also well known as editor and publisher of the Des Moines Capital, spoke before a very large audience at Blanchard hall last night. While declaring himself in favor of peace he made it plainly understood that he did not mean peace at any price. Col. Young thinks that those who live under the Stars and Stripes should love that national symbol and be ready to fight for all that it expresses.

Col. Young thrilled his audience with his descriptions of the war in Europe as he had seen it. A year ago he visited the scene of the fighting and was witness to the dreadful carnage of the early battles on the Aisne and the Marne. He made it plain that it was the most dreadful slaughter the world had ever known. "This war," he said, "is a cross between murder in the first degree and midnight assassination."

The speaker insisted on the loyalty of every man in the United States, whether native or foreign born. He spoke strongly on this point and was loudly applauded. "I am in favor of peace," he said, "and we owe a great deal to our president, who has done his level best to keep our sons out of the trenches, but I am not in favor of peace at any price. We are not going to lay down our arms when it becomes necessary for us to fight for this grand republic. I am not in favor of the peace platform of Bryan, Jane Addams and those other old ladies. I am in favor of a peace platform on which you could proudly stand."

"If we would get rid of wars," he added, "let us get rid of kings and crowned heads. Let the people have a voice."

To Be Show Place

Tomaso Bonnetto has carpenters busy remodeling the Miss Burn's place on the corner of Montrose and Los Angeles avenues, which he recently bought. The new additions to the house will be a cement cellar, which will house the dining room and kitchen, two rooms upstairs besides alterations in the old structure. When the work is completed Mr. Bonnetto will have one of the show places of the valley. Mr. Bonnetto is the owner of a prosperous ten-acre orchard here.

Chicagoans to Return

Mr. J. Emmett Pierce and wife, of Chicago, who spent a month at the Fairmount hotel and left two weeks ago for a visit to the exposition at San Francisco, will return.

Mr. Pierce writes from Chicago that he saw nothing in all California that compares with the La Crescenta valley for beauty. As soon as possible, he says, he will dispose of all interests in Chicago and return. They will stay at the Fairmount while locating.

Mr. Pierce, for the past twenty years, has been prominently connected with the Marshall Field & Co.

PHENOMENAL EGGS

At the Fromm poultry farm, 249 East Third street, there are three ducks of the Pekin breed which gratify their owners by laying one egg a day each. This they have done for many weeks in succession. The other day one of those ducks laid an enormous egg weighing about 9 ounces. When opened the egg was found to contain two eggs—one a perfect, normal duck's egg, the other an egg without a shell. Monday, presumably the same duck laid another abnormally sized egg, 8 inches in circumference and 10 1-2 inches in circumference, measuring around the ends, and weighing 8 ounces.

TOMATO CATSUP

Wash and cut up a quantity of tomatoes. It is not necessary to remove the skins. Put in kettle without any water and boil till soft, then mash through a fine sieve until only seeds and skins remain. To each gallon of this liquid add 3 level tablespoons of salt and a fourth tablespoonful of red pepper. Place again in kettle and put in a little bag containing for each gallon of the tomato 2 level tablespoons of whole allspice, 4 level tablespoons unground white or yellow mustard seed, 1 level tablespoon whole cloves, 2 level tablespoons unground celery, 1 ounce stick cinnamon, 3 ounces green ginger root that has been cleaned and scraped. Drop also into the kettle 2 large whole onions. Bring to a boil, stirring frequently to prevent scorching, and boil until the mixture begins to thicken. Add 1 pint vinegar and 3 level tablespoons sugar. Continue boiling until the catsup becomes so thick that when a teaspoonful is put in a saucer no water will run from it. Then remove the onions and the bags of spice and put the catsup in jars or bottles that have previously been washed in boiling water. Seal or cork while hot.
